

*"We hope to, one day,
open a SPA together."*

Occupations: Professional Estheticians

Friends MeeMee Wunsch and Joani Lowecki had a discriminating eye when it came to choosing an esthetics program – and were thrilled with the top-notch facilities and equipment they saw when visiting Tricoci University of Beauty Culture.

"I was so impressed by the clinic. It seemed to me that I was just going into a spa. It was very impressive. The equipment they had was state-of-the-art," said Joani. MeeMee was also thrilled with Tricoci's facilities and equipment, and excited to use the high-tech equipment not available at most other schools, including a Vichy shower system and microdermabrasion machine.

As mothers starting their second careers, both women say their teachers and fellow students made them feel comfortable and welcomed.

"It was interesting because being of a mature age, we weren't sure what we were going to run into. But we had so many good friends there. The other students saw how hard we were working and really respected what we were doing," said Joani.

"The teachers were great and very helpful. It was nice to have them working with us," said MeeMee.

Upon graduation, MeeMee and Joani were amazed at all of the things they had learned. With a thorough knowledge of the fundamentals, advanced techniques plus the science, business and retailing aspects of skincare, both felt confident and totally prepared.

"After I finished at Tricoci University, I was comfortable and confident when I applied for a job," said MeeMee.

"I was so thankful that I had my education at Tricoci University ... In the future, we really hope to open our own spa. I feel that I am well prepared from what I learned from Tricoci University to do that," said Joani.
