

Tricoci University provides TLC to . . .
Children with Cancer

September, 2009 – Chicago NW Campus

On September 25, 2009, Cosmetology students, teachers and alumni from our Chicago NW campus took part in a St. Baldrick's event at a Chicago Fire Department training facility. St. Baldrick's is a worldwide organization that creates fundraising events to benefit childhood cancer research. Volunteers shave their heads in solidarity of children with cancer, while requesting donations from friends and family.

With the help our TUBC "shavers," 333 heads were shaved and over $45,000 raised. TUBC participants left the event with tired arms, warm hearts, and incredible respect for the courage of the kids involved.
